01 · WHO

The brand in a minute.

WHAT

Amsterdam-based DJ and multidisciplinary creative, raised on pop culture, queer nightlife and the internet.

FEELS

Bold, clean and flat. Black, white and one hit of pink. Big type, real photos, nothing fussy.

SOUNDS

Short, plain and warm, with a wink. Like a DJ friend texting you. Chronically online in the best way.

One pink per view.

The whole system leans on a single rule: let black, white and space do the work, and use pink once, on purpose. The dot in the logo is the proof.

02 · LOGO

The wordmark.

Just the name, set in Inter Tight Black, with a pink full stop. The dot is always pink and always there.

FREY.

- Letter-spacing −3%. Don't re-set the logo in another font.
- App icon: FREY. over bot, on Ink. FREY. white with pink dot, bot all pink.

Other colours. The dot is the only pink.

Gradients, or pink-to-purple.

Other weights or fonts.

06 · PHOTOGRAPHY

Real, close, in the room.

- Real photos of FREY. DJing: behind the decks, club light, motion.
- Close crops, natural expression. Let the club colours (pink, magenta, cool blue) do the colouring.
- Photo on one side, type on the flat black or paper card on the other.
- Keep text off busy parts of a photo; put it on a solid block.
- No memoji, stock images, filters or pastel overlays.

07 · VOICE

Short, plain, warm.

- Always FREY. with the dot. The app is FREY.bot.
- Short, punchy, a wink. Think DJ friend, not agency.
- Sentence case for sentences. Capitals only for headings and labels.
- Headings get a full stop. Like this one.
- English first. Dutch for Dutch clients and invoices.
